Happy August, PrideRock family! We hope you’ve been having a great summer like we have had here in East Texas! As always, you can find our tigers soaking in their tubs this time of year to cool off from the summer heat. Our days have been full of enrichment for our animals in the morning and lazy afternoons laying around in the shade. What can we say? Life is purrrfect.

And while our animals have been living their best lives, our team has been gearing up for North Texas Giving Day. That’s right, it’s that time of year again. In this newsletter you can learn more about our latest project at the refuge and how we need your help, and of course, all of the updates in regard to our residents.
The enclosure we're currently working on started this summer and begins with concrete foundation, steel fencing and the construction of cinder block houses. We've already spent $30,000 on steel for the pens (and the price only continues to increase due to demand.) All of the above work should be finished by mid-September. Following that, electrical, water and pools will take another month or so to complete. We are hoping to have the new enclosure finished by November.

We believe this project will cost us around $100K, so anything we receive during NTGD will be crucial to us for completion.

If you follow us on social media, you may have noticed that we recently completed an online auction for our animals’ artwork including canvas paintings and paw print moldings in July. We raised close to $1,000. The PrideRock animals always have a blast creating their works of art, and they all have their own unique style. Some like to get messy while others like to just paint with their whiskers, but the end result is always a masterpiece!

Stay tuned for another auction at the beginning of 2022!
